

RUSSIA IS PREPARED

For Any Steps Great Britain May Take on the Subject

Of Stopping Ships in Red Sea.

Her Action Said to Be Result of System of Espionage Which Proved British Vessels Were Carrying Contraband to Japan--Important Developments Are Anticipated.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—5:18 p. m. Russia seems prepared for any representations Great Britain may make on the subject of stopping ships in the Red Sea. It is understood that before sending the cruisers there, the Russian authorities became satisfied through an elaborate system of espionage that an immense amount of contraband was going from England through the Red Sea to Japan and they decided to stop the traffic. It is understood that if this traffic is now diverted to the cape route the Russian admiralty is prepared to send ships to the cape of Good Hope, if Great Britain objects to the passage of the Dardanelles by more vessels of the volunteer fleet the ships intended for cruising off the Cape may be sent from the Baltic. In this connection very important developments are believed to be imminent.

Tokio, July 20.—(Noon)—The Vladivostok squadron has overhauled a Japanese steamer eastward of Tsugar Straits. The name of the vessel captured and its fate have not yet been learned.

Port Said, July 20.—The captured Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca (bound for Libau, on the Baltic) has arrived here, manned by a Russian naval captain, four officers, 45 sailors and Bremen.

Members of the Malacca crew were taken prisoners and no communication with the shore was permitted. An armed guard blocks the gangway of the vessel.

The British captain and passengers complain of the Russian treatment. The former carried his protests to such a length that he was threatened with arrest unless he desisted.

The Malacca is declared to have on board no contraband articles for Japan. Her cargo of 3,000 tons includes forty tons of explosives for Hong Kong.

Port Said, July 20.—The crew and passengers of the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca, seized by the Russian volunteer fleet steamer at St. Petersburg in the Red Sea, have been landed here. The ship is retained by the authorities, who are waiting instructions before taking further action.

BRITISH
Press Is Putting Forth Heated Editorials Against Russia.

London, July 20.—The further details received from Port Said today, describing the situation on board the Peninsular and Oriental Co.'s steamer Malacca seized in the Red Sea by the Russian volunteer fleet vessels at St. Petersburg fail to give any reason for the seizure and only serve to inflame the British feeling. There is no likelihood, however, of any precipitate action. It is officially pointed out that the very fullest information must be obtained before the government decides on its course, especially in view of the fact that, being the greatest naval power in the world, Great Britain cannot afford to create precedents for international usage, which might hereafter react unfavorably against herself.

In the meantime and until there is direct and explicit evidence of a contravention of neutrality by the Malacca and the assumption by the Russian government of full responsibility for the action of the commanders of the Smolensk and St. Petersburg, the British government, it is explained, can only ask an explanation from the Russian foreign office regarding the nature of the charges against the seized vessel. Subsequent action necessary will depend on Russia's reply thereto.

The talk of stopping the Red Sea by British warships meets with no approval, when it is pointed out that the commander of a warship would have to satisfy himself that a merchantship was really carrying contraband. The commander was satisfied in this respect then there would be no necessity for protecting the ship. If he did not receive satisfactory assurance he would have no right to convey the vessel. The editorials continue to be heated and it is openly suggested that Russia's action was premeditated. The Westminster Gazette says: "Circumstances can be conceived in which Russia might suppose it was absolutely necessary to widen the issue, so as to avert defeat at the hands of the 'yellow peril.'"

VLADIVOSTOK

Squadron Starts Out To Do a Little Business.

Tokio, July 20.—10:30 a. m.—The Russian Vladivostok squadron, accompanied by torpedo boats, entered the Pacific ocean today at 7 o'clock. Its destination is unknown, but it is suggested that it possibly plans to visit the east coast of Japan and then either return to Vladivostok, escaping to the southward, or attempting to form a junction with the Port Arthur fleet. The squadron was discovered in the straits of Tsugar at 3 o'clock this morning steaming rapidly eastward. At 3:30 a. m. it was reported off Tsugar Cape and at 7 a. m. observers at Hakodate reported to Tokio that it was then steaming to the east.

Warnings have gone out to shipping along the eastern coast of Japan and merchantmen are hurriedly seeking cover. It is expected that most of the shipping will be warned before the Russians can inflict serious damage if a raid is proposed.

Ordinarily a lack of coal would prevent an extended cruise, but it is possible that the Russians possess a collier at a rendezvous in the Pacific ocean.

Russian Press Talks Back.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—The Russo today publishes an editorial statement of Russia's position relative to the stopping of neutral ships in the Red Sea by vessels of the volunteer fleet. There is great interest in the statement because it is believed to reflect directly the views of the foreign office. It is as follows:

"The operations of the converted cruisers Smolensk and St. Petersburg are causing tremendous excitement in England. Questions are being asked in parliament, the newspapers are appealing to the public and there is a panic among ship owners. There is also a good deal of talk in Armenia because of the seizure of mails on the steamer Prinz Heinrich, but the most noise there is being made by extremist organs, the others treating the matter coolly. It is a pity the English do not display the same Teutonic calmness.

"It is easy to understand that the British merchant-marine feels these restrictions severely. As a result of the stopping and searching of vessels, English ships either must give up transporting contraband or continue at their own risk and peril in time of war between two powers. Others are bound to suffer more or less, as it is impossible to check contraband traffic without search.

No Quick Action.

London, July 20, 5:18 p. m.—The foreign office this afternoon authorized the statement that there is absolutely no truth in the story, circulated in the United States by a news agency, that Great Britain had informed Germany of the despatch of a British fleet to Alexandria with the intention of checking Russian illegalities in the Red Sea. The foreign office also says there is no foundation for the belief expressed in the dispatch from Malta to the Daily Express of London yesterday morning that the British Mediterranean squadron departure from Malta might be connected with the presence of the Russian volunteer fleet of vessels in the Red Sea. It was added at the foreign office that the movements of the British Mediterranean squadron are in no way influenced by the recent incidents in the Red Sea.

SEOUL, KOREA, AT U. S. LEGATION.

Another Russian Failure.

Tokio, July 20.—5 p. m.—The Russian attempt to retake Mou Tien Pass on July 17, was not productive of a general engagement nor was it marked with serious loss. There were, however, a series of desperate small encounters. The Japanese guarded their positions about the forts with a company of outposts. These men resisted stubbornly the Russian advances, and awaited the arrival of reinforcements. When these arrived they joined in the general attack. The outpost detachment stationed at Hsi Anna Tang held this position all day. It was largely outnumbered by the enemy and every commissioned and non-commissioned officer was wounded as were a majority of the men.

The attack on Mou Tien Pass began at three o'clock in the morning. The Russians engaged the outposts and the Japanese at once went into action. The Japanese artillery posted on the heights in the northwest of Wuying Kuan opened on the enemy, and the Japanese outposts retired gradually. The Russian cavalry and looped forward and deployed along the ridge to west of the pass. Two hours later at 5 o'clock, the entire Japanese line was engaged. The Russians were constantly receiving reinforcements and finally they had four regiments in action. They outnumbered the Japanese. At this point the Japanese occupied the summit of Mou Tien mountain, and they resisted desperately the efforts of the enemy to dislodge them. When the Russians finally retreated, they were pursued by the entire Japanese line. Seven battalions of the enemy made a halt on the heights of Tawan and with four guns checked the Japanese pursuit.

RAILROADERS WANT REVENGE.

Mob Organized to Lynch Negro Accused of Murdering a Flagman.

Danville, Va., July 20.—A mob of about 75 men composed principally of railroad men wearing handkerchiefs over their faces made a demonstration before the city jail early today for the purpose of taking the negro, Roy Shield, accused of the murder last Friday of flagman James Larnes, of the Southern Railway. The police had had notification of the forming of the mob and were prepared. When the mob advanced the officers took station in the alleyway leading to the jail. Mayor Wooding addressed the mob from the court house steps and ordered them to disperse. But the mob went by hurrying the mayor along with them. Several shots were fired by the police, but the firing was in the air. Finding that the police were prepared, the mob did not attempt to force an entrance into the jail. After half an hour they dispersed, saying that they would return and return. The jail is being carefully guarded.

ELKS

Break Their Previous Records

In Attendance

At the Reunion Now on in Cincinnati.

Parade Held Today Was the Greatest Ever Held in the Queen City.

Descriptions of Uniforms Worn by Some of the Lodges in Attendance—List of New Grand Lodge Officers.

Cincinnati, July 20.—The attendance at the Par. 4th Grand Lodge and 18th annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has broken the record here on previous days this week, but the climax in crowds did not come until today with the annual parade. The morning trains brought many marching lodges, with their bands. The attendance of ladies was also largely increased. Over 2,000 ladies had tickets and up to last night, but this did not include all. There were special entertainments for ladies and elaborate programs for every day, until today when they were with their escorts on the miles of seats along the line of march. Good weather with some breeze favored the parade.

Of the 244 lodges in the order, sixty-six competed for prizes in the parade, each with its band, unique uniforms and various accompaniments. Light suits and novel straw hats with purple trimmings were the favorite uniforms. The Philadelphia, Cleveland and other lodges marched in full evening dress. The Daxton lodge, picked by many as a winner, had one hundred and twenty men in Prince Alberts and silk hats in spite of the hot weather. Several lodges with small representation appeared in line in tulleys, among them being thirteen representatives from Manila. Delegations had bears, coons and other animals as attractions. The eagle was the favorite bird in the procession. The Baltimore lodge had a crooked, fire engine recovered from the conflagration of last autumn and its members were uniformed as firemen. The Buffalo lodge had a buffalo mounted on a wagon. Lodges from Norfolk, Va., Huntington, W. Va., and other interior districts had teams of oxen hauling logs, the timber differing according to location. These members were uniformed as log rollers. Several lodges were uniformed as coal miners. Nashville had a hookeymaker's wagon with twenty dummy horses and the delegation uniformed as jockeys.

The "cotton pickers" of Greenville, Miss., all blackened and in negro garb except the commanders of the march. Those from Joliet, Illinois, were dressed as convicts. Those from Louisville were dressed like Uncle Sam, in red, white and blue. The Indianapolis lodge had automobile outfits while New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Mobile, Columbus, O., and many others were brilliantly arrayed in white with purple trimmings.

The Tampa delegation wore coats made of Cuban tobacco with cigar maker knives as plumes in their panamas. Another Florida delegation carried a live alligator. All of the score of divisions had floats and emblems appropriate to their localities.

The orders to rendezvous at 8 o'clock were so well observed that the apparently endless line moved at 10 o'clock with scores of bands, hundreds of banners and all sorts of devices, while thousands of throats cheered along the way. Governor Herrick and Mayor Fleischmann occupied carriages with the grand officers and others.

Grand Lodge Officers.

The new grand lodge officers so far elected are as follows:

Grand Exalted Ruler, W. J. O'Brien, Jr., of Baltimore, Md.

Grand Esteemed Loyal Knight, F. C. Tomlinson, of Winston, N. C.

Grand Esteemed Lecturing Knight, Chas. W. Kaufman, of Hoboken, N. J.

Grand Tyler, W. W. McClellan, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Grand Treasurer, J. K. Tener, of Charlevoix, Pa.

The selection of a Grand Secretary has not yet been decided. There are four candidates, as follows: Fred C. Robinson, of Dubuque, Ia.; David W. Watson, of Terre Haute, Ind.; Charles Stager, of Toledo, and J. R. A. Burke, of Richmond, Va.

DUMP THEIR SURPLUS DOWN

On British and Other Markets Regardless of Cost Through High Tariffs.

London, July 20.—The report of Joseph Chamberlain's tariff commission on the iron and steel trades arrives at the conclusion that the decline of the British iron and steel industry is due to the fact that the manufacturers of America and Germany have secured control of the home markets by means of high tariffs and an organized system regulating their export trade, that they are in a position to dump their surplus products on the British and other markets regardless of cost and that the dumping could not be carried on except for the British system of free imports.

The report, which is signed by fifty-eight commissioners is very bulky and gives the evidence of British manufacturers, the evidence given before the United States industrial commission on iron and steel industries, the organization and working of German Kartells, and a vast amount of statistics, etc.

ISSUE IS DECISIVE.

Paris, July 20.—The text of Foreign Minister Del Casse's note addressed to the Vatican was communicated to the council of ministers today. It creates a decisive issue, asking for the withdrawal of the letters by which the Vatican calls for the resignation of Bishops Gay, of Laval, and Nordese, of Dijon. Otherwise all relations between France and the Vatican will be broken off.

A similar notification was communicated to the papal nunciature here. The Vatican's answer has not yet been received. It is expected that the question will be maturely considered before an answer is given.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF

Penal Servitude Ended This Morning for Florence Maybrick.

A Notable Fight for Liberty,

In Which Her Mother and All American Ambassadors Took an Active Part--Mrs. Maybrick Will Return to America to Protect Property Interests.

Truro, Eng., July 20.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick was released from prison this morning and immediately departed for France, accompanied by her mother.

Mrs. Maybrick who was Miss Florence Elizabeth Chandler, a member of a well known and prosperous southern family, was married July 27, 1881, in St. James church, Piccadilly, to Jas. Maybrick, of Liverpool. She was then eighteen years old. Her husband was over forty years of age. In the spring of 1889 Mr. Maybrick became ill, and in a few days he died. His brothers investigated his death and charged Mrs. Maybrick with the murder of her husband. A long trial followed and a number of documents were sworn that the deceased died of arsenical poisoning. The defense proved that for twenty years Mr. Maybrick had been a confirmed user of arsenic and that he daily took doses large enough to have killed a dozen ordinary men. Mrs. Maybrick was eventually sentenced to death by the judge, Sir, Fitz James Stephen, who spoke for two days in charging the jury. He said it was impossible for them not to find her guilty in the face of the medical evidence.

From the time of Mrs. Maybrick's conviction, her mother, the Baroness De Rouques was unremitting in her efforts in behalf of the prisoner. She succeeded in having death sentence commuted to penal servitude for life and finally has obtained the freedom of her daughter, to whose release from prison she had devoted her life. The baroness was aided by influential friends on both sides of the Atlantic. In 1900, after the death of Lord Russell of Kilowen, chief justice of England, a letter which he had written to Mrs. Maybrick in 1895, was discovered, it showed he was convinced, that she ought never to have been convicted, and it has been generally understood that all the recent American ambassadors to the court of St. James have done everything possible to obtain Mrs. Maybrick's pardon.

The fact of her probable release was used as a reason for securing the postponement of a trial last year on account of law suits bearing on Mrs. Maybrick's interest in land in Kentucky, Virginia and W. Va., until she was able personally to testify. If she was not able to testify in these suits Mrs. Maybrick and her mother would have lost all title and interest in the many thousands of acres of land involved. On February 4th, last, Home Secretary Agers-Douglas, replying to a question in the house of commons, confirmed the reports which had been in circulation that Mrs. Maybrick had been removed from Aylesbury prison to a convalescent home, where she would remain until the summer when she would be allowed her freedom. The home secretary said a license had been granted to Mrs. Maybrick under the penal servitude acts. The transfer of the prisoner from a penal prison to a quiet country home constituted an almost unprecedented action on the part of the British authorities. It was due to the mediation of the Duchess of Bedford, who, as a visitor to Aylesbury prison for many years, had taken a keen personal interest in Mrs. Maybrick, and finally succeeded in obtaining the mitigation of her punishment to the extent of her being allowed to spend the last six months of her confinement outside the prison walls.

Mrs. Maybrick's imprisonment was not terminated with the clang of doors, the last sound which remains in the ears of so many of her fellow prisoners who had preceded her to liberty from Aylesbury prison, where she spent more than fourteen years of her life. It closed before the arched doorway of the white convent of the Sisterhood of the Epiphany in this little town with the black-robed sisters softly uttering their blessings and good wishes for her future. With two companions Mrs. Maybrick entered the carriage of Miss Dairycamp, secretary of the sisterhood, and was driven rapidly to St. Austell, a small station fourteen miles away, where, after exchanging good byes with her companions, she boarded a train and started on her journey to France. She will not go to America until her presence there is considered imperatively necessary.

The greatest secrecy was thrown about Mrs. Maybrick's departure. Mother Superior Julian of the convent, said to a representative of the Associated Press, that under instructions she must refer all inquiries to the home offices. Others at the convent were equally uncommunicative.

At the railroad station orders were issued forbidding the employees to discuss Mrs. Maybrick, or even to admit that she was at the convent. The little town has taken interest in this international figure. Crowds daily stood at the iron gates of the grounds, waiting for Mrs. Maybrick to appear, but they were rarely rewarded, she going out only when the road was reported clear.

When Mrs. Maybrick first arrived here she was kept under strict surveillance, never leaving the convent walls. Even for a walk in the grounds, she would have to be under the escort of one of the sisters. Subsequently she was allowed to walk in the quiet streets of this picturesque place and in the shady country lanes in the vicinity. Those who have seen the published portraits of Mrs. Maybrick soon got to recognize the black-robed woman, with black bonnet and flowing strings, and gave her kindly greetings, which she frequently passed unnoticed. Mrs. Maybrick seeking so far as possible to avoid the attention of the curious. Her time at the convent was taken up by sewing, reading and chatting with the sisters, endeavoring herself to them by many acts, showing that even the many years of servitude at Aylesbury prison had been unable to stamp out her innate kindly disposition.

TWENTY PERSONS INJURED IN CRASH.

Street Car Filled With Church Excursionists Collides With Work Car--Episcopalian Pastor Was the Most Seriously Hurt.

New York, July 20.—Twenty persons were injured in a crash between a work car and a trolley car of the New York and Long Island Traction Company near Hempstead, L. I., today. The trolley car was filled with members of the St. George Episcopal church of Hempstead, who were going on a picnic excursion to Long Beach when it crashed into the work car on the single track about half way between Roswell and Freeport. Many of the passengers were badly cut and bruised, but it is thought none was fatally hurt. The most seriously injured was Rev. Dr. J. M. Meyerbrook, pastor of the St. George Episcopal church, who received internal injuries, and is in a serious condition.

CROP

Nearly Every

Section of Country Has Had Weather

Favorable to Growth and Harvesting Except Colorado and Carolinas.

Corn Has Experienced a Week of Exceptionally Favorable Conditions—Short Cultivation in Some Places.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—The weather bureau weekly report says East of the Rock mountains the temperature during the week ending July 18 was highly favorable, but in the Pacific coast states and over the western portions of the middle and northern plateau districts it was unseasonably cool, with light to heavy frosts on the 13th, in Washington and Oregon. Too much rain hindered farm work in the central gulf districts and in portions of the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic states, while need of rain is beginning to be felt in northern New England, portions of the Carolinas, over the lower portion of Colorado. Drought has been relieved in the north Pacific coast districts, but continues with increased severity in the southern plateau regions.

Corn has experienced a week of exceptionally favorable weather conditions. Very few unfavorable reports respecting this crop are received. In the Missouri valley and in portions of the Upper Ohio valley and middle Atlantic states, corn has, however, suffered somewhat from lack of cultivation, and in Texas the late plant is being injured by drought.

Better weather for harvesting winter wheat prevailed than in the preceding week, and this work has been generally satisfactory, although still delayed in the moisture portions of Kansas and the Ohio valley. Harvesting is practically completed in Missouri and Nebraska, and is well advanced in the Ohio valley and the northern portion of the middle Atlantic states. Comparatively few reports of sprouting in stock and of damage by mold are received this week. Harvesting has continued under favorable conditions on the Pacific coast. Recent rains have caused some lodging of grain in Washington.

As a whole both early and late spring wheat have advanced fast, the worst of the reports being from northern Minnesota, where the crop on low lands is thin and late.

CONFERENCE

Held This Afternoon at Armour's

To Attempt a Settlement in Stock Yard Strike.

Purpose Was to Consider an Appeal Made to the Packers by Representatives of Various Trades.

A joint conference this afternoon to attempt a new settlement of the big stock yards strike was agreed to by the packing house proprietors today. The agreement was reached at a meeting in the stock yards office of Armour & Co., at which representatives of the packing houses were present. The purpose of the meeting was to consider an appeal made to the packers yesterday by representatives of trades employed in the packing houses, such as teamsters, engineers, and electricians, who might be affected by a sympathetic strike in aid of the butchers and unskilled workmen who constitute the bulk of the army of men already out. It was decided by the packers that the joint conference should be held at the city offices of Swift and Co. this afternoon.

LOST COINS IN THE MAIL.

They Cause Much Trouble and Worry to Postal Clerks.

Ordinarily no man is rich enough to escape that certain sense of elation which comes from picking up a nickel on a sidewalk, but when a railway postal clerk finds such a coin in a mail pouch where it has worked out from insufficient wrappings not only does he miss this elation, but it may prove a calamity.

For a nickel lost in a pouch of mail in transit becomes a matter for national concern. It comes to view perhaps just as a pouch of mail is emptied upon a sorting table, and when it has broken away from the bunch of letters and cards and circulars, rolled to an open space on the table and there settled down, heads or tails, with a noisy splashing sound, the clerk who first sees it is "it."

No, it is a lost nickel from the moment the clerk has to see it spinning there before his eyes, and according to the tender governmental conscience the clerk has to get ready for the inauguration of about $18.43 worth of fuss over it.

For himself he doesn't dare to go to bed for a short nap until he has got rid of his 5 cents' worth of responsibility to the government for the action of the fool person from whom the nickel was parted. He digs up his printed form for such occasions printed and provided and at once fills out a long blank, describing the coin, telling the circumstances of its being found and whether it landed heads or tails on the table, naming the pouch from which it was emptied, the number of the train carrying it, the date and a few other details.

This report with the nickel goes to the headquarters of the postal division in which the car was operated, and from there bounded officials, by the same general red tape route, the small coin finds its way to the seat of national government and to the fund representing the great constituency of the postoffice department, which persists in sending money in envelopes through the unregistered mails of the service.—Chicago Tribune

THE HARDY CATALPA

Catalpa Specimen as a Farm Crop a Good Investment.

By W. J. GREEN, Ohio Experiment Sta.

The growing of trees for posts has become a necessity, and the time has arrived when poles and railroad ties can be made profitable farm crops.

Harvesting may be begun in from six to ten years after planting by cutting for fence posts, and from five to ten years later some of the trees will be large enough for poles and railroad ties. A plant of the primary object of which is to produce post timber may in due time prove profitable for poles, ties and lumber.

In making the catalpa a farm crop the risk is small because the product in some form will always be in demand, and there is a wide limit as to the time of harvesting. Much of the work can be done at a season of the year when farm work is not pressing and but little skilled labor is required. Intelligent oversight is necessary, however. Many plantations which have been made show how costly mistakes and neglect may prove to be; hence a need of a careful study of the matter.

The selection of a site for the wood lot is often determined by the necessities of the case. A corner of the farm cut off by a road or a stream, a hillside or a ravine or a rather poor and perhaps stony hilltop may be the only spot available. Upon many farms there are fields which cannot well be cultivated because of frequent overflow. The banks of a stream may often be protected from washing by tree plantings, and the same is true of many fields. Trees may often be planted for windbreaks and at the same time may yield a profit in posts or poles. They may also be made to beautify the landscape and yield financial returns as well.

It will thus be seen that on most farms the planting of trees for posts, poles and ties need not decrease the area of tillable land. In many cases, however, it would pay to devote tillable land to tree growing, especially where help is scarce and near railroad roads where the products can be marketed cheaply.

Investments could be made that would yield good returns without a large outlay for labor. The fact that but few have awakened to the possibilities in such an investment ought to make it the more attractive.

A matter of prime importance in growing post, pole and timber is to select a tree which grows rapidly, is adapted to a great variety of soils, is but little subject to the attacks of insects and fungi and resists decay when put in contact with the soil. The black or yellow locust has some of these qualities, likewise the osage orange and mulberry, but the catalpa speciosa, or hardy catalpa, possesses more of them than any other tree.

A fact that has had some influence against the planting of catalpa is that a worthless species has often been used. Hence many plantations are unsatisfactory because of the crooked, irregular growth of the trees.

At least three other mistakes have been made in planting catalpa trees, all of which have worked injuriously against the hardy catalpa and to some extent against forestry in general. These are, first, too close planting; second, neglect of thinning, and, third, improper pruning. In nearly all of the earlier plantations the trees were set four feet apart each way and allowed to struggle for existence after two or three years' cultivation.

SPRAYING POTATOES.

In general, begin spraying when the potato plants are six to eight inches high and repeat the treatment at intervals of ten to fourteen days in order to keep the plants well covered with bordeaux throughout the season. During epidemics of blight it may be necessary to spray as often as once a week. Usually six applications will be required. The bordeaux should contain six pounds of copper sulphate to each fifty gallons of water. Whenever bugs or flea beetles are plentiful add one pound of paris green or two quarts of white arsenic stock solution to the quantity of bordeaux required to spray an acre. Thoroughness of application is to be desired at all times, but is especially important when flea beetles are numerous or the weather favorable to blight. Using the same quantity of bordeaux, frequent light applications are likely to be more effective than heavier applications made at long intervals. When a horse spray or hand pump is used, the nozzle per se is used it is better to go over the plants once a week than to make a double spraying once in two weeks, says H. J. Eustace in Orange Judd Farmer.

Tree Poison on Grass Roots?

"Horticulturists and fruit growers have long known that grasses are injurious to young apple trees, but it seems that they were wrong in attributing the injury to interference with the air, the water and the food supply of the trees. Carefully conducted experiments and observation at the Woodburn experimental fruit farm in England have shown, however, that there is some direct or indirect product of grass growth that has an active poisonous effect on the roots of the trees. It is also suggested that the so-called exhaustion of the soil by certain plants, preventing the subsequent growth of other plants in the same ground, may be due really to some poisonous product left by the first plants." Another instance of the disagreement of doctors the foregoing would appear to be when contrasted with the successful practice of an eastern orchardist, Mr. Grant Hitchings, who keeps his orchards in grass and plies a heavy grass mulch around each tree.

THE MARKETS.

New York July 29.—The influence of the depression in the London market was shown in the fractional declines at the opening here. Union Pacific fell 5/8 and 4,000 shares of Atchison sold at 79 1/4. Commodities were less than half. Small advances in B & O. and Southern Pacific were the only important exceptions to the declines.

THE HARDY CATALPA

Catalpa Specimen as a Farm Crop a Good Investment.

By W. J. GREEN, Ohio Experiment Sta.

The growing of trees for posts has become a necessity, and the time has arrived when poles and railroad ties can be made profitable farm crops. Harvesting may be begun in from six to ten years after planting by cutting for fence posts, and from five to ten years later some of the trees will be large enough for poles and railroad ties. A plant of the primary object of which is to produce post timber may in due time prove profitable for poles, ties and lumber.

In making the catalpa a farm crop the risk is small because the product in some form will always be in demand, and there is a wide limit as to the time of harvesting. Much of the work can be done at a season of the year when farm work is not pressing and but little skilled labor is required. Intelligent oversight is necessary, however. Many plantations which have been made show how costly mistakes and neglect may prove to be; hence a need of a careful study of the matter.

The selection of a site for the wood lot is often determined by the necessities of the case. A corner of the farm cut off by a road or a stream, a hillside or a ravine or a rather poor and perhaps stony hilltop may be the only spot available. Upon many farms there are fields which cannot well be cultivated because of frequent overflow. The banks of a stream may often be protected from washing by tree plantings, and the same is true of many fields. Trees may often be planted for windbreaks and at the same time may yield a profit in posts or poles. They may also be made to beautify the landscape and yield financial returns as well.

It will thus be seen that on most farms the planting of trees for posts, poles and ties need not decrease the area of tillable land. In many cases, however, it would pay to devote tillable land to tree growing, especially where help is scarce and near railroad roads where the products can be marketed cheaply.

Investments could be made that would yield good returns without a large outlay for labor. The fact that but few have awakened to the possibilities in such an investment ought to make it the more attractive.

A matter of prime importance in growing post, pole and timber is to select a tree which grows rapidly, is adapted to a great variety of soils, is but little subject to the attacks of insects and fungi and resists decay when put in contact with the soil. The black or yellow locust has some of these qualities, likewise the osage orange and mulberry, but the catalpa speciosa, or hardy catalpa, possesses more of them than any other tree.

A fact that has had some influence against the planting of catalpa is that a worthless species has often been used. Hence many plantations are unsatisfactory because of the crooked, irregular growth of the trees.

At least three other mistakes have been made in planting catalpa trees, all of which have worked injuriously against the hardy catalpa and to some extent against forestry in general. These are, first, too close planting; second, neglect of thinning, and, third, improper pruning. In nearly all of the earlier plantations the trees were set four feet apart each way and allowed to struggle for existence after two or three years' cultivation.

SPRAYING POTATOES.

In general, begin spraying when the potato plants are six to eight inches high and repeat the treatment at intervals of ten to fourteen days in order to keep the plants well covered with bordeaux throughout the season. During epidemics of blight it may be necessary to spray as often as once a week. Usually six applications will be required. The bordeaux should contain six pounds of copper sulphate to each fifty gallons of water. Whenever bugs or flea beetles are plentiful add one pound of paris green or two quarts of white arsenic stock solution to the quantity of bordeaux required to spray an acre. Thoroughness of application is to be desired at all times, but is especially important when flea beetles are numerous or the weather favorable to blight. Using the same quantity of bordeaux, frequent light applications are likely to be more effective than heavier applications made at long intervals. When a horse spray or hand pump is used, the nozzle per se is used it is better to go over the plants once a week than to make a double spraying once in two weeks, says H. J. Eustace in Orange Judd Farmer.

Tree Poison on Grass Roots?

"Horticulturists and fruit growers have long known that grasses are injurious to young apple trees, but it seems that they were wrong in attributing the injury to interference with the air, the water and the food supply of the trees. Carefully conducted experiments and observation at the Woodburn experimental fruit farm in England have shown, however, that there is some direct or indirect product of grass growth that has an active poisonous effect on the roots of the trees. It is also suggested that the so-called exhaustion of the soil by certain plants, preventing the subsequent growth of other plants in the same ground, may be due really to some poisonous product left by the first plants." Another instance of the disagreement of doctors the foregoing would appear to be when contrasted with the successful practice of an eastern orchardist, Mr. Grant Hitchings, who keeps his orchards in grass and plies a heavy grass mulch around each tree.

Washington, July 20.—For Ohio:

Even the tireless elephant is growing weary of carrying Reckless Roosevelt.

The president who is safe only to the party he represents, will be an unsafe president for the nation.

President Roosevelt's close watch of developments in the Chicago strike like locking the stable door after the horse has been stolen.

Maybe the electric car system of the country will in time give us the competition in railroad rates which republican non-enforcement of laws and an inefficient interstate commerce commission has stifled.

The beef trust when asked by over seventy million people what it is going to do about the strike nonchalantly said: "Raise the price of beef.
And then it does exactly what it said
it would do."

It is rather strange yet diplomatic that the discovery should be made at Washington just before election—of the well known fact that the railroads of the country have been discriminating against western farmers, and small dealers by giving the meat trust special rates in rebate form.

Roosevelt is not only unsafe but dangerous to every interest in this country. His uncontrollable spontaneity, boss spirit, and doing of things as Roosevelt thinks best without regard to effect on nation or people, have created an honest and correct impression that for future ad-

Confidence is being restored in all branches of business, except in the tariff fed trusts since the nomination of Judge Parker for the presidency.
The poor trusts can see nothing in Parker for them, and to offset the depression his name has caused them,
they—especially the greatest of them all, the meat trust—seem to be taking their chagrin over the situation out of the men they employ by reducing their wages.

The same feeling exists throughout the country now, as has found lodgment ever since Roosevelt slipped into the presidency through the misfortune of another. It was never intended by republican leaders that he should be president. He was made vice president to side track him as a presidential possibility. These leaders have not changed their mind, and their wish has extended to the people.
Today, "It is as it has been since 1901, anything to beat Roosevelt."

iner of the bureau of inspection, is visiting the eighty-eight Ohio counties for the purpose of explaining the workings of the new school code to boards of education, and other educational affairs. It is not expected that Mr. Marshall will go sufficiently into detail to relate to what extent the school book trust is interested in this code. Still the question should be asked him when he reaches this county in his rounds.

Chicago, July 20.—An exciting dem-rope was quickly procured, but Johnson, struggling desperately, managed to jump upon the coupling bar of the last car of a passing freight train.

The crowd followed and boarded the cars. Johnson lost no time in reach-mob. The fugitive ran to the front of the train and hesitated for a moment, and then leaped from the top of the

of a petition filed by Richie, Leland & possession of 50 acres of land in Rich-

she wants an accounting made with her for all the oil produced, and asks the court to decree the life estate of Malissa Black as forfeited.

PRESIDENT IS TOTALLY

Disinterested in Beef Packers Strike Except for Effect on the People.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 20.—President Roosevelt is watching closely the developments of the beef strike in Chicago, New York and other cities. By his express direction, Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor through special agents of the department is collecting all obtainable information regarding the strike for probable future use. The president manifests concern over the strike, affecting so appreciably one of the great food traffic of the country, not on account of the political bearing,
but because of the serious financial strain it is putting on the beef consumers of the United States. He deeply regrets that such a conflict between the interests of capital and labor should have precipitated a conflict that certainly will entail serious loss to both parties. It is known that the president regards the situation a grave one. He hopes an agreement between packers and their men may be reached through negotiations now pending, but he is without definite information on that point. No occasion yet has arisen in the strike and probably none will arise for either the president or any department of the government to become an active factor in the problem.

IMPORTANT QUESTION OF

Rates Taken Up by Maccabees—
They Will Be Advanced for Protection.

Detroit, July 20.—The Supreme Tent
Knights of Maccabees of the World, today took up the important question of rate re-adjustment. The report of the committee on laws on this subject was presented by Chairman E. L.
Young, of Norwalk O. It submitted first a table of rates for whole life protection ranging from a monthly rate of 85 cents per thousand dollars of insurance at the age of 18 years to the end of the term. Members who reach the age of 54 years who are carrying insurance under the term plan may, after that time, provide life protection by paying a monthly rate thereafter of $3 for each thousand dollars of insurance. The convention adopted the report of the committee on appeals.

Direct Evidence.

The lawyer shook his finger warningly at the witness and said, "Now, we want to hear just what you know, not what some one else knows or what you think or anything of that kind, but what you know. Do you understand?"
"Wad, I know," said the witness,
with emphasis, as he lifted one limber leg and laid it across the other—"I know that Clay Grubbs said that Bill Thomas told me that he heard John Thomas' wife tell Sam Shuford's gal that her husband was there when the fight took place and that he said that they slung each other around in the bushes right considerable."

The Man Who Attracts Business.

A sunny man attracts business success. Everybody likes to deal with an agreeable, cheerful people. We instinctively shrink from a crabbed, cross, contemptible character, no matter how able he may be. We would rather do a little less business or pay
rather do a little less business or pay
with an optimist—Success.

Telling a Rest.

Church—I saw your clerk on the car yesterday. He had a chili on one arm, a basket on the other, and he couldn't find a seat. Got him—Yes, he said he was overworked, and he wanted to take a day's rest—Yonkers Statesman.

FIRST TIME

Democratic Candidate for Vice-President Is Guest of Judge Parker.

Esopus, July 20.—Former Senator Davis, the democratic vice presidential candidate, arrived at Esopus today accompanied by National Committeemen Norman Mack, of New York, and D.
J. Campau, of Michigan. They were driven at once to Rosemount. Judge Parker and Senator Davis had never met before.

Little Information.
Esopus July 20.—It is becoming daily more evident that Rosemount is not the place in which to look for information concerning the democratic national committee chairmanship. There can be no doubt that present conditions here favor the selection of Senator Gorman, if he will accept the chairmanship, but Judge Parker today apparently knew no more actually about the final selection than did the newspaper men who asked him about it. The bulk of opinion here today is that if Senator Gorman finally refuses the appointment, National Committeeman Taggart will be the choice.

Wool Market.

Boston, Mass., July 20.—The wool market continues in the strong and active position which was inaugurated about two weeks ago. Manufacturers are taking many of the western clips off dealers hands before the wool infact arrives.

There is a good call for medium
fleece wools and prices are firmer.
The price for Ohio delaines holds firm at about 35@36, while for unwashed and unmerchantable Ohio de-laines about 26 cents is the price. For washed X above Ohio fleece the market holds at about 44 for these lots.
Michigan delaines is quoted at 33@34.
Michigan X is quoted at 28@29, and No. 1 at 30@31. For one-quarter and three-eighths blood unwashed wools
the price is firm at 28c for Ohio and 27c for others. For Ohio one-half blood about 25c to the market, with Michigan 27 cents.

ECCENTRIC
MCCALMONT.

His Heirs Must Avoid Intemperance
or Lose Their Share of Estate.

Franklin Pa., July 20.—S. P. McCalmont, an eccentric millionaire who died last week, devised a way to prevent intemperance among his heirs.
His will, just filed, excluded as beneficiaries any one who indulges in liquor or tobacco. Any member of the family who uses any of these things may become a beneficiary in the estate by abstaining from use for a period of a year. If the beneficiary returns to the former habit, however, he or she is again cut off.

Mr. McCalmont carried his doctrine to the extent of advising against the employment of any man or woman on the estate who smokes or drinks.
There are two daughters and four sons. All the latter are said to be smokers.

Funeral Friday.

Telegrams were received in Lima last night announcing the death of Mr. Frank DeCurtin, a respected young man of this city who passed away in the Saint Alexis hospital in Chicago after a long siege of suffering from hip disease. Accompanied by relatives of the deceased the remains will arrive here over the Pennsylvania railroad at 7 o'clock this evening and will be taken to the home of the family at 777 south Elizabeth street. Requiem services will be held over the remains at St. John's church on south Main street on Friday morning and the body will be taken to Carthagenia, O. for burial, leaving here over the I. E. & W. railroad.

The deceased was a member of the firm of DeCurtin Bros. who for many years have been engaged in the business of furnishing fine interior finishings and decorations for churches and other buildings. The deceased was an artist of unusual ability and did some of the fine work that may now be seen in St. Rose and St. John's churches and in the Faurot opera house and Masonic lodge rooms in this city.

Frank DeCurtin was born at Carthagenia, O. January 31 thirty six years ago and is survived by two brothers, Andrew and Anthony DeCurtin, and two sisters, the Misses Agnes and Mary DeCurtin of 777 south Elizabeth street.

Mr. DeCurtin entered the St. Alexis hospital in Chicago last January and before his death underwent two unsuccessful operations for hip disease.

The Rev. A. E. The ladies congregated at the hall and sent a messenger for Father Manning and upon his arrival, Miss Teresa Stein, president of the Young Ladies' Sodality, on behalf of all present, made a presentation address, and presented their pastor a handsome new phaeton and harness. Father Manning was taken by surprise, but responded feelingly, thanking all concerned, and saying that he appreciated their efforts to lighten his labors and to make his work amongst them a pleasant task. At the conclusion of Father Manning's remarks, a handsome purse of money was also presented to him by Thomas Carney. A brief musical program was then indulged in, all singing with much earnestness, the song, "You're as Welcome as the Flowers in May." A recitation which contained much mirth was recited by Miss Mayme O'Brien, a solo, "Face to Face" was rendered by the pastor's nephew, Rev. A. J. Manning after which the Te Deum was sung concluding the splendid program of the evening.

New York, July 20.—The body of Mrs. Gertrude Kramer was found in her home on east 80th street today under conditions which led the police to believe the woman was murdered. She had not been seen by any of her neighbors since Monday and when an officer and the woman's brother went to her home early today they found the door to her apartments locked with a padlock on the outside. The door was forced and Mrs. Kramer's body was found lying on a sofa. Marks on her throat caused the police to start an investigation on the theory that the woman had been murdered. They at once began a search for William Murphy, a street car conductor who had lived in the Kramer apartments since Mrs. Kramer and her husband separated several months ago.

New York, July 20.—The conference of democratic leaders which has been in progress at the Hoffman house for the past four days ended today when several of the most prominent of them left the city. Hendley, left over the West Shore for a visit to Justice Alton B. Parker at Esopus, on invitation Mr. Mack. With the departure of senator Davis the conference was declared at an end, until prior to the meeting of the democratic national committee next Tuesday, July 26.

David B. Hill had expected to go to Normandy-by-the-Sea today for a few days returning in time for the committee meeting and possibly a visit to Judge Parker.

LONG WAR
PROMISED.Butchers' Union Has Large Sum and
Will Be Given Aid

By the Independent Packers.

Strike of Strike Breakers Has Resulted in an Increase of Wages to Non-Union Men Employed to Take the Place of Former Employees.

Chicago, July 20.—Representatives of all the big packing houses in the stock yard offices of Armour & Co. met today to consider the appeal made to them yesterday by the striking butchers and to arrange for a joint conference which it was intended to hold this afternoon.

"It is impossible for the wisest man to say when this strike will end," said President Michael McDonnelly of the butchers union, today just before the packers went into conference. "Our terms are unalterable and the packers have made no concessions. We are prepared to carry on a long war but probably will not begin full payment of strike benefits, as I formally announced Tuesday. However every striker and his family will be taken care of. None shall go hungry. We have $250,000 in our treasury and 15 cents of the 25 percent per capita tax goes into the fund for defense. In addition we have offers of aid from the independent packers. Many St. Louis packers have offered to advance us financial aid to be paid on the per capita basis."

I expect to meet at the Sherman house this afternoon the general committee of the various trades who met yesterday. A strike of strike breakers has resulted in an increase of wages to the non-union men employed to take the place of former employees in the packing houses. Three hundred and fifty laborers struck for more wages. They had been getting $3 a day. After a fifteen minute strike wages were increased to $4 and $5 a day. It is reported that an agent of the United States government has arrived in Chicago to make an investigation of the strike. Complaint has been made it is said by western farmers and raisers of cattle that the packers are violating a federal injunction in making special rates to large shippers.

Different Views
Kansas City, July 20.—Packers today stated that they were making steady progress constantly adding new men to the force and increasing the output daily. On the other hand the strike leaders assert that nearly 200 men have been persuaded in the last 24 hours to leave their jobs and join the union. A reporter who was taken through the Armour plant found a force of about 2,000 at work. At the other plants smaller forces are at work. At the Cudahy plant a number of cuts have been taken in for use of the strike breakers.

Slight Drop in Price
Boston, July 20.—A slight drop in the price of various cuts of beef was announced at the opening of business today. A further and sharper cut is expected soon as owing to the greatly reduced sale since prices went up on account of the Chicago strike, meat is beginning to accumulate in the markets here.

Ten Per Cent Advance
Chicago, July 20.—Prices of meat on down town restaurant bills of fare have been raised ten per cent or more as a result of the stock yard strike. The action was taken at the instance of the Hotel Keepers' Association. The largest increase has been made in the price of the expensive beefsteak with mushrooms quoted at $2.75 on Saturday now bringing $3.25.

Injunction Against Strikers
Omaha, July 20.—Judge Munger in the U. S. circuit court today issued an injunction against the striking packing house employees restraining them from picketing the packing house district. The injunction was granted on petition of the packing house managers.

FOUR THOUSAND
UNION CARPENTERSWho Have Been Locked Out Declare Struggle Will Continue All Summer Unless Contractors Come to Their Terms.

New York, July 20.—Four thousand union carpenters who have been locked out by the Building Trades Employers Association have decided to remain idle indefinitely pending a hard and fast interpretation of the general arbitration agreement under which they have recently labored with special reference to that part binding the employers to use only union men. The lockout was precipitated by the alleged employment of non-union men by one contractor. One of the union leaders declares that the struggle will continue all summer and completely check building operations here unless the contractors come to terms on the disputed clause over non-union help. Both sides are firm and it is thought likely that the struggle will prevent the completion of many buildings now nearly finished. It is a disputed point whether or not any of the other unions will be dragged into it.

Unless the present arbitration plan progressed rapidly since the disastrous experiences of last year is completely abandoned, there can be no strikes sympathetic or otherwise.

REMARKABLE

Increase Shown in Railroad
Earnings.

Railroad returns for the last few weeks have been so encouraging that officials now regard it as possible that the losses of the winter may be retrieved so that the earnings for the entire year will compare favorably with those of 1903. From the partial returns for June it appears that for two roads made earnings of $3,446,000 compared with $2,713,974 last year an increase of 27 per cent.

Although the first four or five months of 1904 shows a considerable falling off from 1903, it is pointed out by the Railway Age that earnings have been increasing at a great rate for several years, and that it is not reasonable to expect this to be kept up indefinitely.

Earnings for last May were less than for May 1903 but they were much greater than for May, 1901, one of the highly prosperous years.

Returns from 27 representative roads for that month as compiled by the Railway Age shows the gross earnings were $55,435,223 for 1904, $37,602,072 for 1903, and $71,750,369 for 1901. Eighteen of the roads show a decrease compared with last year while the aggregate earnings of all these roads were $2,167,000 or around 2 1/2 per cent less than in May 1904. When compared with 1901 all but one of the 27 roads have largely increased earnings this year, the increase for the entire list amounting to $13,684,000 or nearly 20 per cent. Yet in 1901 all the railways of the country earned $101,000,000 more than in the previous year although 1900 has shown a gain of $63,900,000 over the preceding year.

The table of rate of earnings for each mile shows a continuation of the same rate of progress. In 1900 the gross earnings of all roads in the United States averaged $7722 a mile, an increase of $717 a mile over 1899, in 1901 they averaged $8123 a mile, an increase of $401 and in 1902 they increased $502 averaging $8625 a mile. According to the recent report of the interstate commerce commission for the year ending June 30, 1903 the average earnings had risen to $9258 a mile which is an increase of $633 over the preceding year.

These figures apply only to gross earnings. Net earnings have a different story owing to the large and continuous increase in expenses for labor and supplies during recent years augmented by the severity of last winter.

Receiver Hunt of the Detroit Southern has been authorized to issue $300,000 receivers certificates. The total issue is for $1,000,000, but the first named amount is all that is required for the present.

A POPULAR RACK.

An Inexpensive Hay and Grain Rack. Convenient For Storage.

A style of hay and grain rack in common use in many parts of the eastern and middle states is illustrated by American Agriculturist. The two bed-pieces of spruce 3 by 6 inches in size are either 14 or 16 feet long. Five crosspieces 2 by 4 spruce or 2 by 4 hard wood, 3 feet 6 inches long, connect the bedpieces. The studdings which hold the rack, ten in number, five on a side, are 2 inches thick, 4 feet 2 inches long and taper from 3 inches wide at one end to 12 inches at the other. A plank, 2 to 12 runs through the middle of the rack, and those studdings fit under this and inside the bedpieces, as shown.

Four boards 6 inches wide are placed on each side to form the rack. The first board rests on the crosspieces, the other three being equal distance apart. Two pieces 2 by 4, 7 feet 9 inches long, are used, one at each end of the rack, and are bolted to the side arms just beneath the topboard. The ladders are made of hard wood and are 6 feet 9 inches long, with two crosspieces. The side arms should be of oak or other hard wood, but the boards may be of spruce or pine. The ladders are bolted near the ends of the bedpieces and rest against the crosspieces at the end. By removing the four bolts which hold the end pieces the rack may be knocked down flat to save room in storage.

PARIS GREEN SPRAY.

Why It Sometimes Effects on Various Kinds of Foliage.

It does not seem to have been generally recognized by entomologists and chemists, says J. K. Hayward, that there may be three or four kinds of Paris green which will cause a scorching of the foliage.

First.—There may be a certain amount of arsenious oxide in Paris green over and above that combined with the other constituents. This is "free" arsenious oxide, and until recently it has been considered the only cause of a scorching of the foliage by Paris green.

Second.—The greens may be poorly made, so that the constituents are very loosely held together. When such greens are brought in contact with water, especially water containing carbon dioxide, they are soon broken up, and arsenious oxide is set free. Even the best greens break up to some extent under such conditions, but the poorly made greens decompose much more rapidly. Note, then, the effect of such greens upon the foliage. First, the water of the spray would act at once on the green and set arsenious oxide free, then carbon dioxide would dissolve in the water and carry the decomposition of the green still further. But the matter would not end here, for the rain and dew, both containing carbon dioxide, would also act upon the green, and enough free arsenious oxide would soon collect to severely scorch the foliage. This would of course take place more slowly, with even the best greens, but unless the climatic conditions were very adverse not enough free arsenious oxide would be apt to accumulate at any one time to cause any serious damage.

Third.—The green may be extremely fine. It is well known that even the best greens when ground to a very fine powder and applied to the foliage will scorch. This is doubtless due to the fact that more surface is exposed to the action of the water, which may contain carbon dioxide, so that its decomposing action on the green is accelerated, and enough free arsenious oxide soon gathers to cause serious damage.

It is a very common occurrence to secure a commercial Paris green that scalds because of one of the first two causes—i. e., either by reason of the presence of free arsenious oxide or because it is poorly manufactured—but the water has never found a commercial sample of green that scorched because it was too fine condition.

The Action on Different Trees.

Messrs. Craig and Wood of Hanea, N. Y., obtained the following results in spraying experiments:

Of the apple, pear, plum and peach foliage the apple is injured the least, the pear and plum are affected to about the same degree, and the peach is injured the most.

If only one application is made, Paris green containing 4 per cent of free arsenious oxide can be applied with safety to apple trees, and with the addition of lime 6 per cent may be present.

If only one application is made to pear or plum trees, Paris green containing 3 per cent of free arsenious oxide can be applied with safety and with the addition of lime 5 per cent.

Two applications will do more damage than a single one, and more injury is apt to occur if the weather conditions were normal previous to the spraying than if very dry weather obtained.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

If You Are Looking For Water You Will Find It.

"If you are looking for trouble, you will find it." In order to get a person to do a thing you must first interest him. After I had purchased my farm I was busy and took but little notice of the fact that my wife was carrying water from the spring located on the upper side of the road opposite the house until one day she was sick and I had to carry it for her. I brought the first four or five pails easily and the next four fairly well, but when I had got the sixteenth down I balked and claimed they had "put up a job" on me. I would not believe they used so much water every day and told them so.

I, a strong man, got tired of carrying water in one day. How about the tired woman who uncomplainingly carried it for six months? I had a lead pipe from the spring to the house less than a week, at a cost of less than $20. Twenty-two years that water has been gushing in our back kitchen without a cent more of cost. It will run for twenty years more. But I was not satisfied. It was too handy in the house, and I wanted it in the barn. "We never miss the water till the well runs dry" is a part of an old song. Those of you who lug water to your stock, turn them out in the storm of winter or compel them to go miles in the fierce heat of summer do not realize the cost of food, shrinkage of milk and labor that a lack of water produces.

One day as I was walking along the highway I saw a spot about two feet in diameter that was nearly bare, while the rest of the ground was covered with snow and frozen. "Now," thought I, "what made that?" As I walked along it came to me that water coming up from below kept it from freezing. I went back and marked the spot, and the next spring I dug about two feet and found a small underground stream. After stoning it up I had a well two feet in diameter and three feet deep that was full of beautiful, cool, pure water only 200 feet from the barn. But that was not near enough, and in a few days a lead pipe carried it to the basement, and never a cent of cost since, maybe $12 cost in all. Hundreds of persons had walked over that spot for years, but never dreamed of a spring there—weren't they looking for water?

Water that does its own pumping is always cheapest and most satisfactory. My father recognized this fact years ago and as he could not find a spring anywhere would have given up had he been like most men, but he was resourceful and thoughtful. The house and barn were built on an elevation which sloped to the south; no higher ground or springs anywhere near. How could one get running water in such a location? This seemed a poser. One day he dug a ditch from the well down the hill about fifteen rods and put a small three-quarter inch lead pipe into the well, brought it near the top and laid it along the ditch. After covering it he put on a force pump and drove out the air, and the big siphon began to work. For thirty-five years, without a cent of expense, has it furnished water for all of the stock, pure and cool in summer and warm and pleasant in winter.

There are very few farms except on level land where this principle cannot be applied. It may not bring it into the barn, but a steady supply in a cement trough is better than pumping by hand. If you are looking for water you will find it. One friend got so exasperated that he swore he would have water in the barn and commenced driving a hollow iron bar into the basement cellar bottom, an unheard-of—insane, if you will—proceeding. At only twenty-four feet he cut through into a soft place and after pumping out some quicksand had plenty of water. It was a "driven well." They are common in some localities. The cost of the whole outfit for the fifteen years has not been $7, and the water has never failed. Have faith and work for water.—Cor. Ohio Farmer.

The Sugar Beet.

The beet sugar business has undoubtedly proved something of a disappointment, at least to those who have tried to produce the beet, says the National Stockman. From several sections this year we hear that farmers are reducing the area or quitting the business, and it is said that some factories will have trouble in getting enough beets to run their plants at a profit. The average American farmer is not so well qualified for beet raising as the German or Frenchman. He is not accustomed to it, and he cannot get labor that is satisfactory or at prices that will make beets pay him better than other staple crops. For the past three years he could have made more money by putting his beet land in corn, if crop that he understands and likes to grow. These difficulties may disappear in the course of time, but at present they stand in the way of further development of the beet sugar industry in most sections of the country. Recent legislation has been unfavorable, and there is not much to encourage the idea that raising sugar beets will occupy a large share of the efforts of American farmers in the near future.

Notes and Notes.

One of Great Principles Which

The W. C. T. U. Women Are Making Strenuous Efforts to Bring About.

Pretty Wedding of Popular Jackson Township Young People and a Fine Reception Given Them. Budget of Local News.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Heiser and family, of Lima, are spending a few days of vacation with Mr. Heiser's parents, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Muler are entertaining their son Sergeant Muler of the Philippines, who is home on a furlough.

On last Saturday afternoon Mr. Robert Watt, Jr., and Miss Lena Zerkow were united in marriage at the Lutheran parsonage by her pastor, Rev. Ash, of Ada, and when the bride returned to her parents home, there was a warm reception for them.

A clock, a fine dinner with many guests was served to forty guests, to immediate relatives of the family.

An old time telling was the order of the evening by three different sets.

The first set was the bride's lady friends, who introduced their belling by singing most beautifully, "Home Sweet Home," following with bells.

The two other sets were the gentleman friends of the groom, both old and young with all of the fine works, which reminded of a 4th of July celebration. Their friends were numerous and their earnest well wishes for their happiness and success through life were appreciated.

From that day forth in peace and joyous bliss.

They lived together without debate. No peace Jarre, no spite of enemies, and shake the safe assurance of their state.

The Growth League had on Sunday evening, for her topic, "The World's Peace Through Universal Peace." The program consisted of singing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and prayer of thanksgiving for the advance of Christian ideals in national life, and for the spread of the Gospel as the surest way to secure peace were offered.

Miss Caddie Rumbaugh, the leader of the evening, introduced in a most beautiful way the topic by reciting King's receptional, "God of Our Fathers Known of God." Interspersed with responsive bible readings and hymns, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," and "Onward Christian Soldiers," were discussions on the following topics: "How Will God Make War to Peace?" Name a Better Way than War to Settle International Differences? What are the World's Duties in a Time of Universal Peace? and What are Some of the Fruits of Christ's Kingdom?"

Mrs. Wilbur T. Crofts in writing up the pilgrims trip to the Holy Land and the world's Sunday School Convention, said: "We are going to be a little while where Christ the prince of peace stood in His own land." Mrs. Crofts was on the resolutions committee at this great gathering of Sunday School Workers—one was a memorial on temperance and the other on peace and arbitration. Mrs. Crofts with other worldwide white ribboners had much to do in the Sunday school work and the peace and arbitration department. The following memorial to the president's officers and delegates to the Sunday school convention in session in Jerusalem, was submitted:

Fellow Christians:—Two hundred and fifty thousand lovers of peace in the United States of America, representing every denomination in the Church of Christ throughout the Union, respectfully address you with the urgent request that, in the course of your deliberations in convention, you may find an opportunity to give formal expression to the sentiment of your distinguished assembly, on the subject of arbitration.

At the opening of the Hague conference five years ago, the hopes of the Christian world were bright with expectation. Thirty nations were signatories to the Hague convention. It was the purpose of those who planned that beneficent movement to create a permanent international tribunal, for the adjudication of all causes of dispute that might arise among the signatory powers and for the extension of the principle of arbitration to all lands. That tribunal has been ignored; nations have gone to war, and thousands of human lives have been needlessly sacrificed in the intervening years. Even now, two of the signatory powers are at war with each other, and Mrs. Crofts was on the resolutions committee at this great gathering of Sunday School Workers—one was a memorial on temperance and the other on peace and arbitration. Mrs. Crofts with other worldwide white ribboners had much to do in the Sunday school work and the peace and arbitration department. Fellow Christians:—Two hundred and fifty thousand lovers of peace in the United States of America, representing every denomination in the Church of Christ throughout the Union, respectfully address you with the urgent request that, in the course of your deliberations in convention, you may find an opportunity to give formal expression to the sentiment of your distinguished assembly, on the subject of arbitration.

At the opening of the Hague conference five years ago, the hopes of the Christian world were bright with expectation. Thirty nations were signatories to the Hague convention. It was the purpose of those who planned that beneficent movement to create a permanent international tribunal, for the adjudication of all causes of dispute that might arise among the signatory powers and for the extension of the principle of arbitration to all lands. That tribunal has been ignored; nations have gone to war, and thousands of human lives have been needlessly sacrificed in the intervening years. Even now, two of the signatory powers are at war with each other, and still wider conflicts are impending. Armaments by land and sea have increased, until the burden of taxation for war purposes has become in many lands almost intolerable.

We respectfully and most earnestly urge your distinguished body to place itself on record by an appeal to the leading governments, through their several state departments, that they should again unite in the practical application of the principle laid down at the Hague conference; and that all future causes or dispute should be referred to that Tribunal, instead of being referred to the savage arbitrament of war. We ask you to let it be known everywhere that your distinguished body regards war as a brutal relic of barbarism, which settles no principle, and decides no questions save that of relative brutal force. The cry of a great majority of the fourteen hundred million souls who constitute the earth's population today is for peace, and for the abolition of war; for peace to pursue their various vocations in quietness and safety; for peace to enjoy the liberty and prosperity which they desire for their families; for peace that they may dwell in quietness in their own lands, and enjoy the friendship and good-will of their neighbors; for peace that they may live their lives in comfortable security, surrounded by the comfort and happiness which the Almighty has promised to all who trust Him and look to Him for protection.

And we respectfully submit that it is within your province and power, as an assembly representative of the Christian population of many lands, met for beneficent purposes, to exert an influence in this direction that may lead to most blessed results.

We trust that your distinguished body may be led by the Holy Spirit to act with wisdom and courage in all things, and that all your deliberations in convention may inure to the benefit of the whole world.

And your memorialists will ever pray.

While Japan and Russia are in a great fight, and which ever side wins, the victory will be dear; the neutrality of the five governments indicate much toward peace. In May last, a peace conference was held in New York city which was an important one, the fruits of which are already ripening for the Boston conference of peace and arbitration which will be held in October. Miss Bailey, of New Jersey, our national and world's superintendent of peace and arbitration will be one of the great leaders in this movement, and through her the W. C. T. U. sends strong memorials to the heads of all governments, for the settling of all difficulties by peace and arbitration; also for the application of peace principles in our home life, with our neighbors and in our business relations.

The international council of women was held recently in Berlin, Germany, with our own Mary Wright Sewall, of America, as president, and the Countess of Aberdeen, of Great Britain, vice president. One of their final and most important acts like the International Sunday school convention was a memorial proving that the women would play a commanding role in yet bringing the nations to understand that peace and arbitration is demanded by all the dictates of humanity. So let us be patient, forbearing and forgiving "with malice toward none, and charity for all."

Helen Miller Gould who has dealt such a blow to race track gambling, and through whose influence the sending of race track dispatches by the Western Union Tel. Co. has been stopped, is loved by every white ribboner in the United States of America, and other united kingdoms for her victory in needed reforms, and also for her gift of $1,000 for the protection of the young girls at the world's fair, and in raising funds in the several states to be expended for the same purpose of protection. Mrs. Emille D. Martin, the national superintendent of purity, in art and literature under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., also national member of the Anti-Woman Committee, and the International Denominational Council of Women has also given $1,000 in her department of work. Through this department of work, the white ribboners are making a great effort for purity in the home and in society, and for the suppression of evil pictures and impure literature, the object of which is the betterment of humanity, intellectually, morally and socially and to suppress immoral details in the daily papers of vice and crime which only tend to degrade the moral standard of the community. The press from the W. C. T. U. stand point should be the truest and best friend of their readers by refusing space to all impure advertisements. The press given them in newspapers against sensational details of crime, both medical and fraudulent and that pamper to morbid conditions, and they encourage all that is good in literature and art, and use their influence to create public sentiment against the impure, that our bodies may be "a temple for the indwelling of the Holy Spirit." The W. C. T. U. are opposed to indecent exhibits at the world's fair, and are co-operating with all the various exposition managers, who have charge of this department, to help do away with cigarette and tobacco pictures, to look after the literature at news stands, railroads and steamboats, and hotel pure literature and pictures that uplift. They are trying to remove those hindrances and menaces to public morals—whiskey, beer, opium and tobacco—the principal causes of all degradation, and then, and only then will we have a clean manhood and womanhood. When flower mission day? the 9th of June, was observed the world over, the white-ribboners on the St. Louis fair grounds held forth in their block, number 5, in the Educational building headquarters, in honor of Jennie Cassaday. These beloved women dispensed brightness and sweetness all the day long to every passer-by in sweet pinks, roses and country blossoms with scripture texts attached. In addition, 3,000 carnations were given out with flower mission leaflets, and while these white ribboners were distributing flowers on the exposition grounds, the same good work was going on in the city, in the jails and prisons, in city hospitals, work houses, in the homes of the sick and discouraged, whether in the hovel or in palaces.

To many it seemed impossible that these beloved women of God could give away so many lovely flowers and delicacies for the sick, rich and poor alike. The flower mission work of the W. C. T. U. is not confined to slum and hospital work, for the work is so broad and beautiful that it includes all kinds of people, realizing that every human being needs human sympathy, and this Christlike sympathy leads to a higher and better life. We all need some outward expression of love and sympathy. Fine houses, lands and bank stocks are not the greatest need of the human soul. Lucy Webb Hayes, while mistress of the White House, and with conservatories filled with the choicest of flowers, would turn away from them in loving appreciation of the bouquets of wild flowers, which brought tender messages of her childhood days. It was Helen Hunt Jackson who had such an intense love of wild flowers. They were her friends, and their withering was not death, in the spiritual sense; but a perfect ripening, the end of their serviceableness having come.

"In life, not death, hearts need fond words to help them on their way."

On July 3rd, in the Fair City, all of the churches were open to gospel temperance work—a day set apart in America for uniting all of the temperance forces for a grand rally, the churches, the anti-saloon league and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union taking the lead. Later on during the fair there will be a conference of the Catholic total abstinence societies, anti-saloon league and the W. C. T. U. Every woman who wears the white ribbon will rejoice that in this beloved country of ours, the W. C. T. U. organization has had the great opportunity given her at the St. Louis Purchase Exposition—second to none in educating public sentiment for total abstinence.

The W. C. T. U. see water fountain—Miss Elsie Ward, sculptor—was formerly dedicated July 2nd at the world's fair, as a gift to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. It was placed in a choice location at the head of the grand basin. The ceremonies were imposing and beautiful. Mrs. E. B. Inagles, W. C. T. U. commissioner to the world's fair presented the fountain and the responses were made by President Francis, and other officials of the fair board, who had the following to say of the W. C. T. U. work: "That it had advanced public opinion. It was elevating citizenship, that temperance and total abstinence were advancing, and no other force had done so much to bring about this condition as has the W. C. T. U." In speaking of the beauty of the fountain, the president of the board of public works said: "The fountain was a type of the W. C. T. U., the cornerstones of whose organization is its work nor for gain or hope of reward; but to uplift humanity and bless the world."

The writer would suggest that those of her friends who attend the exposition should pass the W. C. T. U. fountain, where they can get a good drink, a cup of cold water in His name from this fountain, a gift of the white-ribboners; "a fountain, the embodiment of the principle that water alone is the drink that God gives to humanity."

N the old days it was sometimes considered fashionable to be delicate, pale and with an inclination to faint at the least provocation. It is different now. America is raising a strong race—a race of vigorous and healthy mothers.

When a woman becomes nervous, suffers from backache, sleeplessness, a general tired-out and fagged feeling, with dragging-down pains, she turns to the right remedy. She is positive she can get relief and assistance from Doctor Pierce.

Bucked up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ill and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for any woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

physician. In such a case they can just perfect confidence in Dr. Pierce, who has made such a success in the treatment of woman's diseases, for he will give you the very best advice, healthful, healthy and happy should be the desire of every woman. It is then possible to hold a husband and make home happy and bring contentment to it.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the mother health to give her child. It cures nervousness, nausea and sleeplessness. It makes the body comfortable and the mind content. It gives physical vigor and muscular elasticity so that the baby's advent is practically painless.

"I write you to let you know I received your kind and ever welcome letter and your kind and fatherly advice," writes Mrs. Ida Martin, of Berry, Ky. "I commenced your treatment the next day after receiving your letter, some months ago, and followed your advice as closely as I could. Am glad to say I am in better health than have been for years. Believe I suffered from every disease that any over-worked, run-down woman could. Was not able to do anything, could not get one good night's sleep, had heart disease of the worst type. A disordered liver was one great trouble, and, passing through change of life, it seemed to cause me excruciating pain in breast and shoulders. I had no appetite, could not sweep nor do any housework. I took treatment from three of the best doctors in our town but grew worse every day, so I decided to write to Dr. Pierce for advice. I took the medicines just as you advised and continued until I had taken six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I know that your medicines did more for me than all the medical treatment I had ever taken."

Mrs. Geo. W. Wood, of Whitehall, Mich., writes: "I feel that I must let you know how much good your 'Favorite Prescription' has done for me. In June, three months ago, an eight-pound boy was born to us—my first child. I took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription before his birth and got along nicely; was sick only a short time, and when baby was born I felt nearly as strong as I ever did. Was staying at my mother's at the time, and when baby was one week old I rode from there to my home, a distance of about two miles. Got up the fourth day and remained up, and when baby was two weeks old I walked to town and back which is quite a distance from where we live. I also felt so strong that I sat up for a short time the very day he was born. Baby is healthy and growing very fast and I give the credit to your wonderful medicines."
